

CURRICULUM VITAE

Fernando Ramos MD MPH PhD

- MD. University of Salamanca, Spain. 1982.
- Training in Hematology and Blood Transfusion at Salamanca University Hospital, 1984-1988.
- PhD. University of Salamanca, Spain. 1988.
- Diploma in Statistics and Study Design, for Health Sciences. Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Spain. 1997.
- MPH. University of León, Spain. 1997.
- Short stays at Hospital Universitario Marques de Valdecilla (Santander, Spain), Hospital Clinic i Provincial (Barcelona, Spain), Uniliniken Münster (Münster, Germany) and MDACC (Houston, USA).
- Has attended postgraduate courses on Hemopoietic Growth Factors (ESH, 1992), Health-related QoL (Escuela Andaluza de Salud Pública, 1997), Clinical Trial Statistics (EORTC, 1995), Data Management in Cancer Clinical Trials (EORTC, 1995), Cancer Clinical Trials: Methods and Practice (EORTC, 1998), Haematological disorders in the elderly (ESH, 2013) and Aging & Hematology (ESH, 2015).
- Clinical Hematology, Head. Hospital de León, Spain. 1996-2023.
- Associate Professor of Public Health, University of León (2002-2005).
- Clinical Research Coordinator, Hospital de León, Spain (1999-2001)
- Has participated in different research activities, published a number of papers, given conferences and chaired meeting sessions on MDS biology and therapy, AML biology and therapy, infections in hematology, HRQoL and multidimensional evaluation of patient condition in the older adults.
- Former President of the Asociación Castellano-Leonesa de Hematología y Hemoterapia.
- Former member of the Ethics Committee of the Hospital de León.
- Member of the Asociación Española de Hematología y Hemoterapia (AEHH).
- Former member of the Board of Directors of the Programa Español de Tratamientos en Hematología (PETHEMA).
- Member of the Board of Directors of the Grupo Español de Síndromes Mielodisplásicos (GESMD).
- Foundational Member of the Sociedad Española de Transfusión Sanguínea y Terapia Celular (SETS).
- Member of the European Haematology Association (EHA).

León (Spain), 21/Sep/2023